

Abstract

A computerized gaming system has an audio module that is operable to play an audio track during reel spins of a reel slot machine game, such that audio track rhythm is maintained over multiple reel spins. Rhythm is maintained such as by fading a 5 looping audio track, or by tracking rhythm and restarting audio track play from a point calculated to maintain rhythm from a previous reel spin.